

Name: Joshua Quattlebaum

Year: 2nd

Major: Finance, Professional Flight

Qualifications: President and Owner of Quality Care Window Cleaning, Treasurer of AuCappella, President of Auburn Men's Choir, Treasurer of Phi Mu Alpha

Platform: As President of the Harbert College of Business I would strive to make the students and faculty of our college even more connected despite the pandemic the world is facing today. Our College currently has many amazing organizations to be involved in but despite many of these opportunities, many students are not aware of even how to be involved in these organizations. As President I would change this by really boosting student to student interaction and involvement despite this Pandemic. There are many ways that we can be social and enjoy our College experience all the while still maintaining a safe and smart distance and if I am President, I will bring the students at our College back together. I have been in organizations of other Colleges and have noticed that these Colleges almost had a sort of family feel to them, and although they may be smaller than Harbert College of Business, I see no reason that we cannot be just a bigger family. At our College I will make sure that no student feels left out, I want to lead our amazing College to be closer together than ever before. As President of a growing company and student organizations in the past, I have had to lead, manage, and motivate several teams and work along side them. I believe that with these skills I have learned from being a successful leader, I can lead the Student Council of our College to do everything I have sought out to do in student outreach as well as organizational developments within this College, despite whatever is going on in our world today.
