

Name: Bryanna Johnson

Year: 02

Major: Exercise Science and Political Science

Qualifications:

- Director of Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion for the College of Education Executive Student Council
- Director of Hospitality for Pi Lambda Sigma
- Volunteer at Auburn Community Church

I would be a great vice president for the college of education because I currently serve on the executive student council. Over the past year I have been able to see some of the behind the scenes work that the vice president does. I have participated in meetings and different events that the executive student council holds, which gives me insight on new ideas on how to improve the college of education and student executive council. The college of education has so many amazing faculty members, and I hope to be given the opportunity to help bridge the gap between faculty and students within the college of education. Auburn has truly taught me to have a servant heart, and I hope to be able to serve my college in a way to help every student in the college of education.