

Name: Kendall Hardaway

Major: Nursing

Expected Graduation Year: 2026

Year: 2023

Qualifications:

Auburn College of Nursing Student Ambassador

Minority Association of Pre-Health Students Member

AUCON Womens' and Maternal Health Club Member

SGA Director of Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion Projects

Office of Inclusion and Diversity Program Assistant

Platform:

I would be a well-rounded Executive Schools Council President for the College of Nursing because I want to put a focus on considering the importance of accessibility and identity each student needs in order to have a safe, productive, and comfortable academic experience as we become the next generation of healthcare providers. What better way to do this than a career-oriented role where I can meet and collaborate with diverse, yet like-minded, people under the umbrella of nursing, as well as serve my field as a positive representative and model. Another goal on my platform is to aim to ensure the recruitment and retention of underrepresented groups within nursing. Networking with nurses across different backgrounds helps to better understand one's own career options as well as increase one's cultural competency to provide a holistic and equitable healthcare experience for all patients.